

Welcome aboard! Do you know where New Zealand is located? Have you ever heard about it before? New Zealand is an island nation in the Southern Hemisphere, South and East of Australia. It's a small country with majestic waterfalls, mountains, and beautiful landscapes.

There is a folk song of the Mauri people, who are natives of this country and it is called "Epo I Tai Tai E." This song has been handed down for generations so no one really knows what it means anymore. The video will teach you the song and then some body percussion to go along with it.

Watch the video that shows the beautiful landscape of New Zealand and listen to the background music. Listen for when the music is loud and when it is soft and ask yourself, "Does the music match what I am seeing?"
